The Major Events of the Day

International
The United States has assured Egypt that it will make "a serious effort" to help bring about further negotiations between Israel and Syria for another accord on the Golan Heights. The New York Times learned yesterday that in addition to the "secret" undertakings assumed by the United States on Israel's behalf in the published and unpublished documents making up the recent Sinai agreement there was also an unpublished memorandum outlining American "assurances" to Egypt. The British Government, concerned about the race situation in Britain, proposed stronger laws to deal with discrimination in employment, housing, schools and clubs. The proposals, which go beyond the race relations act of 1965, Britain's first such law, were contained in a white paper on race discrimination. [1:2-3.]

National
President Ford, evidently wearing a protective vest under his shirt, mingled with large crowds as he made a 118-mile political trip across southern New Hampshire on behalf of a local candidate for the Senate. At 13 communities and nearly as many crossroads along Highway 101, Mr. Ford called on thousands of friendly people who lined the way to vote for Louis Wyman, the Republican nominee in a rerun election with John A. Durkin, a Democrat. [1:2.]

Lynette Alice Fromme, who has been indicted for the attempted assassination of President Ford, interrupted an arraignment proceeding in Federal District Court in Sacramento when she told the judge "the gun is pointed, your honor, the gun is pointed—whether it goes off is up to you." Her remark was not taken as a direct threat to the judge, but as a threat of more violence from the followers of the murderer Charles Manson, of whom Miss Fromme is one. [1:3.]

Congressional sources said that a House Appropriations subcommittee, responding to the new budgetary guidelines adopted by Congress, has cut the defense budget by the unusually large amount of about $7-billion. There were signs that the Defense Department was distressed by the size of the reduction and would seek to prevent it. [1:5.]

The House unanimously approved stop-gap legislation extending oil price controls
