

News Summary and Index

NYTimes

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1975

NOV 28 1975

The Major Events of the Day

International

King Juan Carlos I of Spain was greeted yesterday with popular acclaim, but also with serious warnings, as he and Queen Sofia celebrated with prayer and pomp his accession to the throne. One warning came from the Roman Catholic Church through Vicente Cardinal Enrique y Tarazona, the Archbishop of Madrid, who told the King at mass that the church intended to speak out, "and shout if necessary," for human rights and justice. Another warning came from the largest crowd the clandestine Communist Party has managed to gather since the end of the Civil War. About 2,000 persons marched on Carabanchel Prison in Madrid to demand freedom for political prisoners. They were repulsed by the police with water hoses and tear gas. [Page 1, Columns 1-3.]

A slowdown by thousands of "junior" British physicians, the equivalent of interns, forced dozens of hospitals in the country to refuse new patients and some to start closing. Thousands of their senior colleagues have agreed to join them today. The junior doctors are agitating for higher pay and removal of what they consider to be inequities in the overtime pay system under the National Health Service. [1:4.]

It seemed clear from statements by Portugal's President and other leaders that the country's centrist forces had emerged from the latest crisis with new strength. President Francisco da Costa Gomes said that a coup of vast proportions had been quelled, and he pledged to defend a multiparty democracy. It was announced that the army's Chief of Staff, Gen. Carlos Fabião, had been dismissed. Gen. Orelto Saraiva de Carvalho, who had become a symbol for the far-left, has been stripped of his post as military security chief and his command dissolved. President da Costa Gomes attributed the military rebellion "to a false left." [1:1-2.]

Recent visitors to China report in Hong Kong that Chairman Mao Tse-tung's wife, Chiang Ching, has come under strong criticism and may have suffered a decline in Communist Party standing because she disclosed confidential information to an American scholar in interviews. [1:4-6.]

National

China has turned to American companies for highly sophisticated oil equipment and technology. Negotiations for millions of dollars worth of oilfield apparatus are now under way between Peking and a half-dozen companies in Houston. Petroleum industry experts believe this is the beginning of an advanced phase in China's oil development efforts. [1:3.]

The jurors who convicted Lynette Alice Fromme of attempting to kill President Ford remained silent about their deliberations, apparently because they were afraid of reprisals from the so-called Manson family—followers of Charles Manson, the imprisoned mass murderer. Miss Fromme has been a Manson follower. [31:1.]

Metropolitan

David Rockefeller, chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank, and often the spokesman for the city's major banks, said in an interview that New York State's efforts to finance its four troubled construction agencies would run out of time and that they, like New York City, would require Federal loans to avert default. But Dr. Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, did not agree. He said that "there were other ways that the state could pursue" to avoid default than through loans. Mr. Burns would not elaborate on what these might be, saying that to do so "would only complicate matters." [1:8.]

A heavy, steady rain did not interfere with Macy's 49th annual Thanksgiving Day parade. There were not as many spectators as there would have been if the day had been clear. The crowd was estimated at fewer than half the 1 million people who usually line the parade route. But it was not possible to find a parade watcher who was not happy to be there. [1:5.]

The New York City Housing Authority will soon start providing sizable Federal rent subsidies to families of low and moderate incomes who live in "extremely substandard" or "grossly overcrowded" housing and to families whose living quarters are satisfactory but who have difficulty paying the rent. The subsidies were authorized by legislation enacted last year by Congress. But there will be subsidy funds, at least initially, for only 1,075 families here. It is estimated that 500,000 families in the city would be eligible for the aid. [1:5-7.]

The Other News

International

Syria said to agree to extend U.N. force. Page 3
Israeli troops conduct raid into Lebanon. Page 3

Accidental bomb blast kills two in Beirut. Page 3

U.S. team to survey needs of Sinai posted. Page 4

Soviet reported to seek bases in Angola. Page 5

Scottish-Welsh autonomy plan made public. Page 6

Juan Carlos will rule with limited powers. Page 9

Canada plans step to modernize defenses. Page 12

Air Canada head resigns after inquiry. Page 13

F.A.O. meeting on food ends in conflict. Page 15

Marcos confers a top aide in Manila cabinet. Page 16

Economic summit meeting has unified effect. Page 20

Government and Politics

Journalist group scores Black-man press curb. Page 22

Law hinders corporations' political ambitions. Page 24

Connally hints at third-party candidacy. Page 24

Tax ruling may curb free rides for U.S. aides. Page 24

General

California breaks off talks with Saudis. Page 17

Plane hijacker explains return from Cuba. Page 21

Plane dives to avoid mid-air collision. Page 23

All shootings by police investigated. Page 25

Time bomb found on Bahamian airliner. Page 26

Fifty guards added at Rikers Island. Page 28

Rights leaders urge reopening of King inquiry. Page 29

Downtown New York recreated in store front. Page 35

Kennedy death linked to back brace. Page 35

Hartford ponders dark past of a man. Page 35

Metropolitan Briefs. Page 39

Suspect held in fatal Queens fire. Page 39

Charges dropped against 13 in Attica revolt. Page 39

Quotation of the Day

"Who cares about the rain? It's fun not going to school and knowing that Christmas is not far away." — Sandy Robinson, 10 years old, of Far Rockaway, Queens, as he watched the Thanksgiving Day Parade. [1:5.]

New community being built in South Jersey. Page 39

Foes of pornography losing major battles. Page 52

Aide preparing San Francisco for a quake. Page 65

Hannukkah begins at sundown tonight. Page 68

Education and Welfare

States slow in ending dual school systems. Page 30

Teachers required to master English. Page 35

Visual thinking in the Rubie Goldberg tradition. Page 34

Health and Science

Experts are baffled by rise in cancer. Page 18

Data gathered on stayings in Michigan hospital. Page 33

Amusements and the Arts

E. J. Kahn Jr.'s "China Hands" reviewed. Page 41

Roxy Music plays exotic, compelling rock. Page 44

The Pop Life. Page 46

Despite fire, Hamburg Opera "must go on." Page 48

The intimate art of Arthur Dove shown. Page 48

Ballet and opera thrive in Novosibirsk. Page 48

ABC cancels six shows in mid-season. Page 67

Going Out Guide Page 51

Restaurant Reviews Page 51

About New York Page 44

Family/Style

Parents/Children: Adoptees and the Truth. Page 32

Designer of houses always builds in spring. Page 32

More letters on the $4,000 dinner in Paris. Page 32

Obituaries

Dr. Lewis Dahl, expert on hypertension. Page 38

Business and Financial

Gasoline prices off slightly over most of U.S. Page 59

U.S.-France monetary pact lauded. Page 59

Canada to buy 18 Lockheed Orions. Page 59

India to take over British oil concern. Page 59

Modernization overtaking Greek agriculture. Page 59

Real Estate: Uncle Hud's guide. Page 62

Advertising News 69

Market Indicators 60

Page | Out-of-Town ... 60

Sports

Braxton's runs help Bills down Cards, 32-14. Page 53

Rams rout Lions, 20-0, clinch division title. Page 53

Lockhart hopes he can play in hometown. Page 53

Steelers' Noll looks ahead, not to past glory. Page 53

Islanders return home and meet Canadiens. Page 53

16-1 Hall the Pirates scores by nose at Aqueduct. Page 53

Bullets face Knicks amid frustration. Page 53

Post downs Hofstra, 9-6, in Hempstead ponds. Page 54

Jets and Giants face tough opposition Sunday. Page 55

Notes on People Page 42

Editorials and Comment

Editorials and Letters. Page 36

James Reston on preoccupation with the past. Page 37

Tom Wicker assays the Martha's 3d-party idea. Page 37

Von Smith on tax reform and investment goals. Page 37

Thomas Whitney assesses the Zardov precepts. Page 37

Katharine Emerson on reviving dietitians. Page 37

News Analysis

Steven R. Weisman analyzes city fiscal escape. Page 1

James M. Markham on U.S. and Lebanon. Page 2

Consumer spending as key to recovery. Page 59

Issue and Debate

Brokers await S.E.C. action on Rule 394. Page 59