

News Summary

NYTimes

MONDAY, JUNE 6, 1977

JUN 6 1977

International

The United States will recall 6,000 ground troops from South Korea by the end of next year in the first phase of President Carter's troop withdrawal plan, Administration officials said. Most of the first 6,000 troops will come from the Second Infantry Division stationed near the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea. [Page 1, Column 6.]

Rebels led by the leftist Prime Minister of the Seychelles Islands in the Indian Ocean overthrew the pro-Western Government of President James R. M. Mancham. The Government radio said that Prime Minister F. Albert René had taken over as President and that the Constitution and the National Assembly had been suspended. President Mancham, in London for a British Commonwealth Conference, said that Soviet subversion was behind the revolt, which, he said, he did not accept as a "fait accompli." [1:5.]

Britain has been overcome by patriotic fervor in its celebration of Queen Elizabeth II's silver jubilee. Pomp and pageantry will reach its climax this week with six days of official events and lesser ones like street parties, village carnivals, fireworks and bonfires. [1:5.]

A race war in southern Africa would inevitably precipitate racial conflict in the United States by causing whites "to panic" and to begin attacking blacks, Andrew Young said in a Playboy magazine interview. The chief United States representative at the United Nations said it was "terribly mistaken" to believe that American interests were not involved in southern Africa. "If you have a race war in Africa, there's no way we won't be affected," he said. "I think racial tensions in this country are always just below the surface." [3:4-6.]

Two women were released from the train being held by South Moluccan extremists in the Netherlands. The release of the women, both of whom are pregnant, was taken as a sign that the mediation efforts begun Saturday were making progress. [6:1-3.]

National

Sporadic looting and vandalism followed the rioting Saturday night in Chicago's Humboldt Park section, in which two men were killed and more than 70 persons injured, including 38 policemen. A general riot by people in the Hispanic neighborhood erupted during a fight between two rival Puerto Rican gangs. Stores were looted and homes and cars, including police vehicles, were set on fire. At least 119 persons have been arrested. [1:3.]

Much of the "new information" on which Congress based its decision to reopen investigations into the assassinations of President Kennedy and the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was wrong, according to a source connected with the House Select Committee on Assassinations. The committee, which spent eight months examining the so-called new information, has found virtually no new evidence, the source said. Mark Lane, writer and lecturer, provided most of the leads with which the committee reopened the investigations. [1:1-2.]

Metropolitan

The Carter Administration will enter the court battle in New York over the Concorde jetliner with a statement defining its position on test flights to Kennedy International Airport. Authoritative sources said the statement would reiterate the Administration's view that Federal approval of the flights did not prohibit the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey from banning them. The Administration is also expected to restate its firm support of the test flights. [1:4.]

In monitoring college and university efforts to recruit and help minority-group students, the Federal Government "must rely on numerical goals," said Joseph A. Califano, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in a speech at City College's 131st commencement. He said that such goals and accompanying "timetables" would differ from "rigid, arbitrary, long-term quotas." [1:1-2.]

Nine men will challenge Governor Byrne for the Democratic nomination for Governor in New Jersey's primary tomorrow. Four others are seeking to lead the Republican Party. Candidates for all 40 seats in the State Senate and 80 in the Assembly will also be on the ballot. A 10 percent unemployment rate in the state and a high cancer death rate that has been linked to pollution levels in New Jersey are among the serious problems that are confronting the voters. [3:1-3.]

Business/Finance

The World Bank says it is making a fundamental change in its economic development strategy by trying to focus more on projects that meet the needs of the very poorest people. An analysis made by the bank has concluded that because of the concentration of ownership and power, the absolute poor are not being helped. [4:5:6.]

Exceptionally low interest rates on tax-free bonds have made offerings this week of $1.2 billion unusually interesting. Bond dealers and portfolio managers will watch the next few trading days with special care to find out whether the low rates—close to their lowest levels in three years—will hold, or whether rates must rise in order to attract investors. [4:5:1.]

Beirut's businessmen question whether their city, with its economy wrecked by the Lebanese war, can ever regain its role as the business and financial center of the Middle East, but Beirut's banks have resumed business. A total of 79 banks are open in Beirut, but operations have been reduced to 35 percent of the prewar total. The 65 foreign banking representatives who acted as intermediaries for business all over the Middle East are still hesitant about returning. [4:5:2-5.]

Index

International

- Spanish city, preparing to vote, lives with the fear bred by civil war 2
- Opposition party ahead in Turkish vote 3
- Mrs. Carter's trip a success so far 3
- Brezhnev pledges no return to repressions of Stalin era 4
- Ex-Park aide dissents on troop withdrawal 5
- South Moluccans gaining acceptance for their views 6
- Relics contradict barbarian image of Macedonians 7
- Amin says defector misappropriated funds 9
- World News Briefs 10
- Indian party finds old image hard to shake 12
- War over, Beirut's newspapers now battle censorship 13

Government/Politics

- Congress wrestles with problems of writing effective lobby law 20
- Democrat expected to win easily in Chicago mayoralty election 22
- Representative Mario Biaggi hints at citywide race 30

General

- Around the Nation 18
- Bahamian-Americans in Miami celebrate their heritage 18
- One-man police-cars held safer and more effective 18
- Front runner in miners' race avoids TV debate 18
- "Evil" discotheque ends up as Christian club 18
- Carter's nuclear cutbacks are dismaying Oak Ridge, Tenn. 25
- Japanese priests attend Jersey groundbreaking 25
- Court halts payments for prescriptions by Medicaid beneficiaries 32
- Salute to Israel parade draws spectators and politicians 32

- Metropolitan Briefs 33
- Study finds frustration among New York police officers 33
- Patriarch Elias IV of Antioch presides over Manhattan service 35
- Albany bill would simplify language in legal contracts 51
- New rules announced for 59th Street traffic 58

Education/Welfare

- Beame's school-commissioner plan stirs controversy 51

Health/Science

- Green leaves, 30 million years old, intrigue botanists 31

Amusements/Arts

- Novels by William Safire and Eric Ambler are reviewed 27
- Burned Provincetown Playhouse will be replaced by U.S. gift 36
- Skulte's symphonic poem, "Daugava" given impressive premiere 36
- American Ballet Theater performs a fine "Giselle" 36
- Giedre Kaukaite, soprano, makes United States debut 36
- Loft Jazz Celebration livens up New York 37
- "Caligula" by Camus is staged by Tom O'Horgan 37
- Phillip Wilson and Shelly Rusten appear at Environ 37
- Spoletto Festival U.S.A. ends in burst of fireworks and success 38
- Nora Guthrie and Ted Rotante present their dance company 38
- Film on alcoholism on NBC tonight 59

Family/Style

- A higher pitch for sports cheers Paramus's dynamite second base-person 34

Obituaries

- Eliezer Greenberg, poet, critic and editor 32

Business/Finance

- Bankers expect further rise in international lending 45
- Mrs. Norton confident of goals in jobs agency 45

Page	Page
Advertising News 48	Market Place 46
Dividend Meetings 46	New Corp. Bonds 46

Quotation of the Day

"Arbitrary quotas will not be part of our enforcement program. We want to rely on the good faith and special effort of all who join in the final march against discrimination. But we will also rely—because we must rely—on numerical goals as benchmarks of progress."—Joseph A. Califano Jr., Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, speaking at City College's 131st commencement. [1:1.]

Sports

- Blazers win N.B.A. title in 6th game by 109-107 39
- Yankees turn back White Sox, 8-6, with six home runs 39
- Kingman's bat helps Mets sweep doubleheader, 6-5, 3-2 39
- Vilas beats Gottfried in French tennis final in 3 sets 39
- Weiskopf ends victory drought by winning Kemper open 39
- Campbell defeats Twins, ex-mates, for the Red Sox 40
- Cosmos treat crowd of 31,208 to a rout of the Metros 42
- Curbs on quarter-horse betting called unfair by Parr 42
- JoAnne Carner triumphs in Talk tournament by 5 strokes 43
- Nilsson takes Belgian Grand Prix in Formula One victory 43
- I.R.S. is reported investigating amateur athletes 43

Features/Notes

- Going Out Guide 36

News Analysis

- Lawrence K. Altman on legalization of Laetrile 14
- Leonard Silk examines Administration's inflation policies 45

Editorials/Comment

- Editorials and Letters 28
- Anthony Lewis looks at Paris, then and now 29
- William Safire reports on political maneuvering in the Justice Dept. 29
- Edmund Brown argues for people to take care of themselves 29