Watergate Pleas Sough

By Jack Anderson

tergate case about entering to a felony. guilty pleas and settling the affair without trial.

It's no secret the White Members of the defense

The trial, if it goes according to schedule, would also run just as President Nixon begins his final four years in office. He would like to dominate the front pages with news of his plans and programs for the future. The last heidline stories about White glarizing and bugging of Democratic headquarters.

By pleading guilty, the defendants could avoid a public None of the defense team But no one—neither the despectacle and save the White would speak for attribution, fendants nor the lawyers—will however, except for Henry say who is putting up the White House, therefore, has a Rothblatt, attorney for four of money. keen interest in preventing the men caught at gunpoint the case from ever coming to inside Democratic headquarholdout, our sources way, may for the legal expenses. All the be ex-White House aide Gordefendants have high powered The Justice Department is don Liddy. He's a toughdiscreetly sounding out some minded lawyer who would be ing trial figure who literally of the defendants in the Wa-disbarred if he pleads guilty Watergate Deal?

House would like to avoid the embarrassment of a public trial, which could spread on the court record details that have been limited so far to newspaper accounts.

Members of the defense team cautiously confirmed that the government is at least working on a deal. One defense source said there had been "informal contacts" between the prosecution and deal of the defense team cautiously confirmed that the government is at least working on a deal. One defense source said there had been "informal contacts" between the prosecution and deal of the defense merly the Justice Department's star prosecutor who convicted both Teamsters boss Jimmy Hoffa and Senate the prosecution and deal of the defense merly the Justice Department's star prosecutor who convicted both Teamsters boss Jimmy Hoffa and Senate the prosecution and deal of the defense merly the Justice Department's star prosecutor who convicted both Teamsters boss Jimmy Hoffa and Senate the prosecution and the prosecution are deal of the defense merly the Justice Department's star prosecutor who convicted both Teamsters boss Jimmy Hoffa and Senate the prosecution are deal of the defense that the government is at least prosecution and the prosecution are deal of the defense that the government is at least prosecution and the prosecution are deal of the defense that the government is at least prosecution and the prosecution are deal of the prosecution and the prosecution are deal of the pro tween the prosecution and de-fense. "There are always discussions like this in virtually every criminal case," he said, "the sort of thing that goes, 'What would you do if . . ?'" sources said.

ters. He denied any approach lawyers. Rothblatt is an imposwrote the book on modern criminal law.

Another defense lawver. William Bittman, was for-the defense team, Gerry Alch, is a partner of the famed criminal lawyer, F. Lee Bailey. Alch rivals Bailey in both fees and glory.

Who is paying for Another defense source said high-powered, high-priced attorneys? We have spoken to made to one defendant but some of the defendants who had been turned down. Subtle told us: "We were told when probing has been going on for we took the job that we would months, but no "hard discussions" have begun, the defense paying their own legal bills, they acknowledged.

Washington Whirl

Our sources at the Justice Department expect six of the seven defendants to go along with a guilty plea if the conspiracy and other charges are cut back enough. The long defended any approach from the Justice Department. "So far," he said, "they haven't talked to me. I'm Stone, has turned down an offer to become the new Ambassador to Paris. The Chicago in-LONDON OR NOTHINGcut back enough. The lone deepens over who is paying surance tycoon, who contrib-estimated $4 million uted an to Mr. Nixon's last two presidential campaigns, is holding out for Ambassador to London. He has close ties with Prince Phillip and, has also helped to establish boys' clubs in England. The London post is now held by another multimillionaire contributor, Walter Annenherg, who is ex-. pected to resign.

SEASON'S FLEECINGS -Some top bur eaucrats mailed out thousands of official holiday greetings to friends and associates at public expense. At the Inter-American Defense College, for example, Maj. Gen. George S. Beatty sent official greetings to some 400 big shots, including Latin American dignitaries, throughout the Western Hemisphere. In the top righthand corner of the envelope, we found the warning in English, Spanish and Portuguese, "Pernalty for Private use: $300." At the Treasury, Comptroller of the Currency William Camp insists the public didn't play for the hundreds of cards he mailed out. "We get our operating funds from the luanks, not from Congress," said Camp. So it was the bankers who footed the bill for the Comptroller's Christimas cards

1972. United Feature Syndicates