

Nixon To Speak In Florida

Washington

President Nixon will deliver a commencement address tomorrow at Florida Technological University in Orlando.

Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said he had no information on the subject of Mr. Nixon's address. However, he cautioned newsmen against speculating that the campus appearance would provide the appropriate forum which the White House said Mr. Nixon would eventually use to discuss the Watergate controversy.

The President's stop in Orlando will come while he is en route to his Key Biscayne, Fla., home to spend the weekend, Warren said.

Associated Press