

Roy H. Sheppard

According to his lawyer, Peter Wolfe (19 Apr 73), Sheppard 18 Jun 72 picked up eight cartons at EOB, including contents of Hunt's desk; pass was waiting for him at guard entrance that morning. Sheppard kept cartons hidden and returned them to CREEP, at its request, "shortly before the election." Wolfe believed that most of the material which was not turned over to the court, as a result of Common Cause suit, had been destroyed (no indication of when, or by whom).

Kehrli says in testimony, Ervin committee, 17 May 73, that the special pass was from Dep't of Transportation.

KPFA News 19 Apr 73 *

According to his lawyer, Ben Cotton, Sheppard said (26 Jun 73) that he picked up eight cartons* from a woman he now believes to be - from news photos Mrs. Hunt, who contacted him shortly after the Watergate break-in. (No date on when he met her at the airport and picked up the cartons.)

Sheppard kept cartons in his home in Alexandria; did not open cartons until Nov 72, when he burned them, because no one had asked about them. Cotton said Sheppard testified to the above to Senate Watergate investigating committee and Watergate grand jury (no dates).

Sheppard described (by Cotton?) as operator of Washington-based delivery service.

*at Washington National Airport
(Believe Ulasewicz testified that he also had seen "news photos." HW, 14 Sep 73 memo, has not seen any.)

According to Jack Anderson, Hunt obtained clearances to move eight sealed cartons out of White House (no date), then arranged for Sheppard to pick them up and keep them in his basement. In Aug 72 Hunt contacted Sheppard, who returned the boxes (no indication to whom returned).

Sheppard described by Anderson as a trusted associate of Hunt's and a federal employee.
