NYTimes. Jurors in Agnew Case Are Mosaic of Maryland Life

By MARTIN WALDRON

Special to The New York Times

BALTIMORE, Sept. 26—Last December, Federal District
Judge C. Stanley Blair impaneled a special grand jury in Baltimore and directed it to seek out corruption in government in the state of Maryland.
Tomorrow this special grand jury is scheduled to begin hearing evidence on allegations that judge Blair's mentor and political sponsor, Spiro T. Agnew, took kickbacks from consulting engineers, contractors and, real estate developers when he was a state and local official in Maryland.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury is a the special state of the graph and the third is a national bear salesman at Bel Air.

Varied Occupations

The other who and 50, and 40.

A 47-year-old microbiologist from Frederick who works at Union Bridge the is a social insurance, specialist.

The head kiln burner at the Lehigh operation who is a set to the graph and it was a state of the worder of this wife, the men on the grand jury are:

A 40-year-old man from from from from the year-old man from from from from from when he was a state and local official in Maryland.

Judge Blair is no longer directing the jury's operation. He withdrew on Aug. 15 after it was announced that Vice President Agnew was one of the targets of the inquiry.

The grand jury investigating the Vice President is one of four Federal grand juries making inquiries in Baltimore.

A 40-year-old library clerk at the University of Maryland whose husband is in the carpet business at College Park.

A 29-year-old assistant resident A 50-year-old electrician A 57-year-old Greenbeld dent who works in plant manner at Upper Marlboro.

Foreman and Fireman A construction foremate the University of Maryland whose husband is in the carpet business at College Park.

A 29-year-old assistant resident A 50-year-old electrician and Fireman and Fireman and Fireman A construction foremate the University of Maryland whose husband is in the carpet business at College Park.

A 29-year-old assistant resident A 50-year-old fireman and Fireman and Fireman A construction foremate business at College Park.

A 29-year-old assistant resident A 50-year-old dives in Baltimore.

A 60-year-old fireman A construction foremate business at College Park.

A 29-year-old assistant resident A 50-year-old fireman and Fireman A construction foremate business at College Park.

A 29-year-old assistant resident A 50-year-old fireman and Fireman A construction foremate business at College Park.

A 60-year-old fireman A routine Federal investigations.

22-Member Panel

The Agnew grand jury has 22 members—13 men and 9 women.

Edward S. Northrop, the chief Federal District Court Judge in Baltimore, has ordered newsmen not to publish the names of members of the result of t vestigating organized newsmen not to publish the names of members of the panel. The jurors, who were selected by computer, range in age from They live at Clinton.

A 50-year-old cashier at a Palmer Petroleum Products President who works at the Company.

A 68-year-old Westminster resident who works at the Palmer Petroleum Products Company.

A city of Baltimore laborer. A judge land is expected by computer, range in age from In addition to the truck President.

They live at Clinton.

A 68-year-old Westminster resident who works at the Palmer Petroleum Products Company.

A city of Baltimore laborer. Federal Grand in Fe

The other women on the anel are:

A 34-year-old sewing machine perator whose higherd is a textile worker. A 50-year-old electrician who lives in Baltimore.

A 57-year-old Greenbelt resident who works in plant maintenance.

dent manager whose husband

Foreman and Fireman

A construction foreman for A construction foreman for Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company. He is 63 and lives in Leonardtown.

A 60-year-old fireman and guard at the Martin-Marietta Company in Baltimore.

A 50-year-old dockhand at

59-year-old dockhand Curtis Bay Towing Company in

A 36-year-old employe of the A 36-year-old employe of the Chesapeake and Ptomac Telephone Company in Washington. His wife is a medical assistant. They live at Clinton.

A 68-year-old Westminster resident who works at the

One Official Indicted

The grand jury has indicted only one official so far in its investigation of Maryland corruption — Baltimore County

Executive N. Dale Anderson.
Sixteen of the 22 members of the jury must vote an indictment.

United States

United States Attorney George Beall has said that he expects the grand jury to indict other public officials.
Judge Blair was State Secretary of State while Mr. Agnew was Governor and was appointed a Federal judge in 1971. He disqualified himself from directing the Agnew grand jury last month after Mr. Beall announced that the investigation included the Vice Beall announced that the investigation included the Vice

A city of Baltimore laborer.

A judge from outside Mary land is expected to preside in the ground in Federal Grand juries in Mary-on Mr. Agnew.