

IMPEACHMENT

What You Can Do

Before the impeachment campaign can succeed, our own members must become informed about the issues and committed to the cause. It won't happen unless each of us does our part.

What you can do:

- Become an expert on the impeachment process. Read the articles in this issue of the ACLU News and read the newspapers. Know the issues thoroughly.
- Concentrate your efforts on your own Representative. Do not assume that because they are Democrats, or liberals, or say they support impeachment that they are. Tell them that you will do everything possible to make impeachment an issue in their upcoming elections unless they move and that they must separate themselves from the corruption.
- Write letters to your Representatives and Senators and get your friends to write also. Send copies of your letters and any responses you get to the ACLU office, 593 Market Street, Suite 227, San Francisco, Ca. 94105.
- Visit your Representative's local district office and talk with him or her about impeachment.
- Visit your local newspaper editors and ask them to take a stand in favor of impeachment. Also, write letters-to-the-editor expressing your views.
- Arrange for speaking engagements with other groups and organizations.
- Complete and return your impeachment petition as soon as possible and request more.
- Host coffees or "Workshops" on impeachment; organize your own neighbors to work on, your Representative.
- Take advantage of free radio and TV spots offered by many stations for announcements and statements.
- Arrange a meeting of your ACLU chapter to talk with your Congressional Representative when he or she is in the district next.
- Respond to the Emergency Fund Appeal which you received last week so we may purchase more newspaper ads and cover the costs of mailings and petitions.

We can succeed if we are determined and if each of us does our job. To do other wise is to forsake our democratic institutions. These actions are the highest form of patriotism.
