One Thing After Another

SUPERSNICKER around the Hall of Justice concerns the high-ranker who has a microphone planted in the flower box near his desk to record all conversations; he thinks it's a secret but even The Shadow Knows . . . Speaking of device squadders, Edward C. Nixon, the President's unbugged brother, passed through S.F. Airport en route to Eugene, Ore., and was asked by United's John Cost, "Are you related to the President?" "NO!" replied Edward vociferously, hurrying on, unmistakable Nixon nose in the air . . . Another example of your tax dollars at work: the special meetings called by State chiefs during working hours to "ex" gan's pet initiative, Prop. 13. The glassed-in sidewalk on Gate Avenue— " became
