

Cambridge Hires Cox

Cambridge, England

Cambridge University yesterday appointed fired Watergate prosecutor, Archibald Cox, to a special professorship in American history.

Professor Cox will hold the one-year post simultaneously with his current chair of law at Harvard University.

Cox's appointment as Pitt professor of American history was understood to have been decided long before his dismissal by President Nixon earlier this month.

Reuters