

NYTimes Nov 24 1973

The energy crisis is striking in high places. Because of it, the Air Force is no longer rolling out a Boeing 707 jet every time a member of President Nixon's family has to travel. For example, when Mrs. Edward F. Cox, the former Tricia Nixon, and her husband wanted to fly from New York to Washington to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents, they made do by taking a regular Eastern Airlines shuttle flight.

●