

Why

Nixon May Keep Out

Houston

Republican National Chairman George Bush said yesterday President Nixon may refrain from campaigning in some congressional races this fall rather than risk political damage to his party.

"He feels if he is low in the polls his presence would not be an asset to congressman running for office. The President understands politics," Bush said.

"I think we're going to look back at these elections and we will say they were business as usual," he said. "I think we are in good shape."

United Press