Nixon Unit Shifts Cash To a Trust

By H. L. Schwartz III Associated Press

The Finance Committee to Re-elect the President has ended its turbulent two-year history by transferring $3.57 million to a trust fund.

Trustees of the fund told the General Accounting Office in their first financial report this week that they will con-tinue to pay legal fees and other expenses, including an estimated $775,000 to settle major lawsuits arising from the Watergate break-in.

Fees for lawyers involved in defending the committee and its officials in civil actions and in preparing for Senate or grand jury appearances already have approached $1 million.

The financial report lists a $25,519 bill still owed for the committee's principal Water-gate lawyer, Kenneth W. Parkinson, who was among those indicted two weeks ago in the Watergate cover-up.

The report also lists a $1,066 salary payment for this year and a $200 advance to former Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans, one of the three current trustees who headed the finance committee from its inception in the spring of Barrick, secretarytreasurer of the trust, said the salary check was the last that Stans will get pending out-come of his trial in New York federal court on charges arising from a $200,000 secret campaign contribution from financier Robert L. Vesco.

Former Attorney General John N. Mitchell is a co-de-fendant with Stans in the Barrick said he did not know why Stans drew the $200 advance which, according to the financial report, was re-ceived two days after the trial began and was repaid on Feb.

28.
"I guess he needed pocket money," Barrick said.
The finance committee was two committees charged with over-all opera-tional control of Mr. Nixon's re-election campaign.

Serving along with Stans as trustees of the fund, called the 1972 Campaign Liquidation Trust, are Charles Potter, former U.S. senator from Michigan, and Guilford Dudley Jr., a Nashville Tann insurance. a Nashville, Tenn., insurance done with the campaign surthe finance corplus after all the pending liting the money.

CHARLES POTTER ... serves as trustee gation is completed. But the Republican National Commithas repeatedly said it should get the money.

The Committee for the Reelection of the President, which was headed briefly by Mitchell in mid-1972, handled political chores. It closed its doors last October. The finance committee raised money-more than $60 million in all, making it the richest political campaign in the U.S.

history.

The financial report listed return of $40,000 to Braniff Airways, Inc., of Dallas, noting it was a "refund of a contribution illegally made." The contribution, made secretly in cash before a new federal disclosure law went into effect in closure law went into effect in April, 1972, was first disclosed by the finance committee in response to a lawsuit late last year. At that time it was listed as varying cash amounts from Braniff executives with a note that the committee was trying then to determine whether it was an illegal contribution out of corporate funds.

The financial report also listed as a separate item for The the first time $15,200 owed by former White House counsel John W. Dean III.

Dean, ousted as counsel after he began to tell his version of the Watergate cover-up to federal prosecutors in early 1973, told the Senate Water-gate committee last June that Barrick said Stans' $30,000-a-year salary was discontinued at the former Cabinet secretary's request when the trial began Feb. 20.

mittee he at one time had dipped into the cash to pay for his honeymoon, some home improvements and other daily expenses. But, he said, he had restored the funds and, on advice of counsel, had put the money in a trust at a suburban bank after he began to talk to prosecutors.

Just why he still has control of the money almost a year later is unclear.

Barrick said it was his understanding committee lawyers had asked for the money back on several occasions.

But Patrick C. McKeever, a an, and Guilford Dudley Jr., Nashville, Tenn., insurance kecutive.

No one has said what will be have ever been received from the first of the state of the said "no communications" have ever been received from the first of the state of the the finance committee regard-