

Ehrlichman is changing his attorney

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — One of the attorneys representing both John Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldeman in the Watergate case said yesterday that Ehrlichman is going to change attorneys.

Frank Strickler, who along with John J. Wilson represents both men, said Ehrlichman is seeking new counsel because it would be strategically better when they come to trial, now set for Sept. 9. Both men are charged in connection with the coverup of the Watergate burglary.
