Ziegler today defended the President's decision to make the trip against criticism at home, especially from Sen. Henry Jackson (D-Wash.) that Nixon should stay home while the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment inquiry was going on and inflation is bothering the econ-

"I think Kissinger did bring some stability (in the Mideast) and the only thing I can see now is the President screwing it up," Jackson told a cheering crowd of 1,000 at the New Jersey State AFL-CIO convention at Atlantic City yesterday.

"We disagree with Sen. Jackson and I think many senators do," Ziegler said. "I noticed Sen. Mike Mansfield's statement wishing the President well. I believe that the majority of the American people believe that Sen. Jackson is expressing a minority point of view."

would not be discussed during the trip, and reiterated that stand today. "Our intention is not to use these briefings to talk about domestic matters," he said.

Ziegler said the Nixon-Kreisky meeting "focused on the importance of realizing progress toward a just and lasting peace in the Middle East." Ziegler said Nixon extended an invitation to Kreisky to visit the United States and the Austrian leader was expected to go to Washington in the fall.

(In Beirut, the newspaper An Nahar said today that Sadat is expected to pay a visit to the United States in the late summer. Quoting diplomatic sources, it said the formal invitation was expected during Nixon's Cairo visit and would include a visit to the United Natons.)

Ziegler ruled out a widely rumored Nixon trip to Japan after the Moscow summit, and indicated the President would stop in Europe on the way to the Soviet Union, as Ziegler had said Water- previous reports from Europe had said.
