

A Tape of Nixon Denying It's There

Washington

President Nixon's White House bugs recorded him denying to a group of milk producers that they were being bugged.

The President was meeting with a group of dairy cooperative officials on March 23, 1971. The House Judiciary Committee released a transcript of the conversation yesterday.

It contained this exchange:

Unidentified: Unintelligible.

Unidentified: Don't say that while I'm sitting here.

Mr. Nixon: Oh, I won't go that far. (Laughter) Matter of fact, the room is not tapped. (Laughter) Forgot to do that.
