

Police Group

Gives Nixon

An Award

Savannah, Ga.

The American Federation of Police has awarded President Nixon the group's highest award, public relations director George Dumas announced yesterday.

Dumas, who also is founder and president of the Friends of the Presidents of America, an anti-impeachment group, said the timing of the announcement was not related to Mr. Nixon's current troubles.

Mr. Nixon was chosen for the honor because he is the "most outstanding American who has made the greatest contribution to world peace," Dumas said.
