Judge Issues Wounded Knee Stay, Keeps Tapes at the White House

By Austin C. Wehrwein Special to The Washington Post

ST. PAUL, Aug. 15— U.S. District Cover Judge Fred Nichol ordered the White House today to retain tapes that may bear on the Wounded Knee trial here and not turn them to former President Nixon.

Although the ultimate legal effect wasn't immediately clear, his order was the first challenge to claims by Mr. Nixon's legal staff that the former President owns all

White House tapes but those related to Watergate matters. Nichol signed the order at the request of William Kunstler, one of the defense attorneys neys.

"This is just a piece of paper to gain publicity," U.S. Attorney D. Hurd told a reporter

Legal force with respect to Mr. Nixon that a court subpoens directed to him would have.

Earl Kaplan, a Justice Department attorney from Wash-

The order

and all tape recordings pres- Ford ently in its possession which were made during the previous knowledge of anything perous administration between March 11 and 18, and March the tapes. 26 and April 2, 1973, inclusive and which pertain to events at Wounded Knee, S. D. . . . " Kaplan order base tion" about Today's order will be in effect until a previous Nichol order is compiled with. Two der is compiled days ago, the judge ordered the White House to disclose any taped Nixon conversations on the 1973 Indian occupation of Wounded Knee led by two American Indian Movement (AIM) leaders, Dennis Banks and Russell Means, who are on trial before Nichol.

Neither order has the same legal force with respect to Mr. Nixon that a court subpoena

Earl Kaplan, a Justice Department attorney from Washsays that the ington attached to the prose-White House is to "retain any cution, predicted that administration taining to Wounded Knee in Kaplan said that a judicial order based on "sheer speculation" about a possible reference was merely a kind of Kunstler contended the order was necessary because the defense feared the wanted tapes would disappear. Nichol discounted the vanishing theory, but said if Mr. Nixon does get them, he would have a "chance to make several million dollars and take it off his income tax."

Nichol also said the tapes are the government's because the tape recorders in the White House belong to the taxpayers.

AIM leaders Banks and Means are facing charges stemming from the 71-day occupation of the South Dakota hamlet last year. Defense attorneys have expressed hope that the Nixon tapes might contain comments favorable to Banks and Means.