counts for the rosy judgments, but when the giddiness has subsided it tesque outcomes from which we were nudged us toward increasingly growe can thank fate for a felicitous happily, which is by no means certain, in fact, failed almost completely from will probably be seen that the system, saved by sheerest luck. beginning to end. If things have ended Survivors' euphoria probably acfor the system constantly a useful candidate for the dim office of Vice President the people, was not even considered his party last worried about going to run for national office and who, when working? A President who has never logical, legal product of the system's democracy. What do we have as the absurdity in a nation boastful of its produced by the system is a political Even with the luck, the outcome

The system left the choosing of this

President shop had earlier been driven whose previous selection at the Vice suspicion of felonious conduct, a man man driven from office by bipartisan new President to his predecessor, a

His first choice is said to have been John Connally. from office for taking cash under the desk and cheating on his income tax. If, despite all, this President is a happy choice, we have only luck to after Spiro Agnew had been cashiered. thank. Certainly not the system. We are told that Mr. Ford was not President Nixon's first choice for the job cepted Mr. Connally had Mr. Nixon the odds were that it would have acthat Mr. Connally would have been gress also believes in the system, and resentment in both parties. Yet Conination would have produced political approved by Congress, for the nom-One hesitates to say for a certainty of the Treasury while, simultaneously, made the fight.

If so, the system would have produced its ultimate piece of Grand charges of taking a bribe as Secretary dent Connally pleading innocent to Guignol, the spectacle of Vice Presi-

NYTimes It Didn't Work

OBSERVER

'If this President we have only luck to thank." is a happy choice, ment. the White House to avoid impeach-President Nixon was resigning from suaded Mr. Nixon from making the Connally appointment by using the saved us from the full catastrophe comes one of the lucky accidents that political tensions than the President needed just then. Thus, Mr. Laird beargument that it would create more that was being blandly cooked up by Melvin Laird is said to have disstem.

An . now, of course, we have the pointment only. system gives us government by apdemocracy, as we fondly call it, the by anybody. In the world's greatest a man who wasn't, himself, elected approval, a Vice President selected by system about to give us yet another Vice President not subject to voter and end with the exotic transition. If they did, solution would be easy. We give democratic legitimacy to governments like Mr. Ford's. elections on occasions such as this and could provide for interim national The system's failures do not begin ducting elections, gave us a stackeddismally in 1972. The system made it possible for the White House to mathe man he most wanted to run deck choice between Mr. Nixon and thanks to the system's way of con-Presidential candidate, against. nipulate the democratic choice of better in elections either. It creaked But the system doesn't work much then, chinery failed to communicate any plain the fact that after a quarteridea of Nixon the man. How else ex-The system's informational ma-> overwhelming favorite in 1972, yet had a popular majority willing to see him century of full exposure to the Americommunicated. Something somewhere didn't get itself can public, he was the nation's impeached less than two years later?

were the White House tape recorders. fully, we are told. This is arguable, too. What really worked beautifully Courts and Congress worked beautiof the system. Everything about them was pure luck. tapes were most definitely not a part had any systemic machinery for defenestrating the President and the tapes Congress or courts would have No one believes that without the

Under the system we have been cheated in a Presidential election, subthe prospect of two more years of ment by men of, criminal proclivity, mitted to nearly two years of governgovernment by men we have not and encouraged to feel delighted with elected.

shop ages ago, if not on the used-car system, you would have had it in lot. If your car worked as well as the ystem, you would have had it in the