Faculty Fights Ziegler Visit

By David H. Kogut

Special to The Washington Post
BOSTON, Jan. 24—A controvery has developed over a proposed Feb. 26 lecture by President Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, at Boston University here, Students support the appearance but faculty members oppose it.

After the university's student government asked Ziegler to speak, the dean of the School of Public Communication, John A. Wicklein, sent a telegram this week to student government President Peter

By David H. Kogut

Elikann saying: "I think it is morally wrong for the student government of SPC to pay $3, 000 or any amount of money to Ron Ziegler to speak at Boston University.

"Ron Ziegler knowingly lied to the press and people of the country and did his best to subvert the First Amendment guarantees of a free press. I would defend Ziegler's right to speak on this campus, but I think it would be a travesty to reward him in any way for his despicable contempt for the gative aspects of American government President Peter BOSTON, Jan. 24—A contromovery for the student government in the strongest terms to rescind its decision to pay a lecture fee for Ziegler's appearance on this campus."

Two-thirds of the SPC faculty met Thursday night, and endorsed Wickein's stand.

Elikann saying: "I think it is morally wrong for the student government of SPC to pay $3, 000 or any amount of money to Ron Ziegler knowingly lied to the press and people of the country and did his best to subvert the First Amendment guarantees of a free press. I would defend Ziegler's right to speak on this campus, but I think it would be a travesty to reward him in any way for his despicable contempt for the grant in the strongest terms to rescind its decision to pay a lecture fee for Ziegler's appearance on this campus."

Two-thirds of the SPC faculty met Thursday night endorsed Wickein's stand.

Elikann saying: "I think it is morally wrong for the student government in the strongest terms to resund the ferms to represse to pay a lecture fee for Ziegler's appearance on this campu