

To the Editor:

I wonder what the Internal Revenue Service has done about the taxable income received by the Committee to Re-Elect the President (1972). I refer to the illegal contributions that were not returned to the donors and that part of the contributions not used for valid political purposes but disbursed to finance the Watergate burglary and the expenses, including legal fees, of the instigators and participants in the Watergate and Ellsberg psychiatrist's office break-ins, and the hush-money cover-up payments.
