Ben-Veniste Hints
He'll Resign Soon

Geneva, N.Y. (AP)- Assistant Watergate Prosecutor Richard Ben-Veniste says he will probably resign before the end of the month.

But he declined to elaborate during a question-and-answer period following a speaking engagement Tuesday night at Hobart and William Smith colleges.

Ven-Veniste said his appearance was the first of a nationwide tour. He received $1,000 for his speech to some 300 persons on corruption in Washington and how the government copes with it.
