

Jaworski's View Of Nixon Aides

Philadelphia

Former special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski says four of former President Nixon's top aides should serve sentences handed out to them last Saturday — except under "exceptional circumstances."

"Unless there's some exceptional circumstances that enter into it . . . if sentences should be upheld, I would expect them (the four) to serve some time and I would think it appropriate," Jaworski said at a news conference yesterday.

United Press