

Notes on People

ROBERT ROSENBERG
NYTimes MAR 15 1975
In Seattle, the disbarment of John D. Ehrlichman has been recommended to the State Supreme Court by the Washington State Bar Association's disciplinary board. The former White House aide has entered into a stipulation agreeing to immediate disbarment — even though his two felony convictions are being appealed—to free him from “possibly along disciplinary processes,” the bar group's spokesman said.