

Notes on People

by Laurie Johnston

NYTimes •

Wearing a beard that was apparently his own, John D. Ehrlichman has been in Santa Fe, N.M., for the last week seeking some kind of "public service" work and a place to live, according to The Santa Fe New Mexican. The newspaper said the former Presidential aide, who is free on bail while appealing his Watergate conviction, had visited friends and been seen in several restaurants. Mr. Ehrlichman's earlier offer to work free as a tribal-land lawyer was turned down by Indians of the state's Northern Pueblos.

APR 4 1975