

Notes on People by Laurie Johnston

The first law office of Richard M. Nixon, once planned as a shrine to government by law, has a for-sale sign on it. In La Habra, Calif., the Nixon Law Foundation, Inc., said that Watergate and the Nixon resignation had snapped its fundraising plans but it hopes to recover the $25,000 that has already been spent.