City Bar Group Names De Wind as President

Adrian W. DeWind, a member of the Municipal Assistance Corporation's study group on taxation, was elected last night as president of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York. He succeeds Cyrus R. Vance, Deputy Secretary of the Army in the Johnson Administration and widely mentioned as a possible Democratic Secretary of State.

Mr. DeWind, a member of the bar association here since 1939, is a partner in Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton & Garrison. In the early 1950s, he was counsel to a Congressional subcommittee that turned up irregularities in the Internal Revenue Service. Mr. DeWind was a tax adviser to Eugene J. McCarthy in his 1968 bid for the Presidency and a delegate that year to the Democratic National Convention. He is a graduate of Grinnell College and Harvard Law School.
