by CHARLES ROBERTS Noted White House Correspondent
Foreword by PIERRE SALINGER

The new paperback best-seller that's making headlines in newspapers and on TV coast to coast!

By Charles Roberts, Newsweek's White House correspondent who was there—in the motorcade . . . at the Dallas hospital . . . on the plane back to Washington with Lyndon Johnson. Foreword by Pierre Salinger.

ROBERTS vs. MANCHESTER

"... unlike Manchester, who was commissioned by the Kennedy family, Roberts has written his account without authorization from anyone, not as a Kennedy man or as a Johnson man, but as a reporter who covered both Presidents.

"Roberts and Manchester chiefly differ in describing the interplay between Lyndon Johnson and Kennedy's bereaved intimates during the hours immediately after the murder. The overwhelming impression created by Death's pre-publication publicity is that Manchester condemns Johnson for needless cruelty. . . . To this, Roberts replies that Johnson's assumption of power was 'careful, considerate and compassionate.'"

—TIME MAGAZINE.

ROBERTS vs. MARK LANE, EDWARD JAY EPSTEIN and HAROLD WEISBERG

"Charles Roberts' accomplishment in documentary and analytical reporting of the crime of the decade should be obligatory reading and meditation by book publishers, newspapermen, broadcasters, historians, biographers and book reviewers; most particularly those book reviewers who praised or accepted without proper challenge opportunism, cynicism, misrepresentations, half-truths, perverted quotations and guess-work of Mark Lane, Edward Jay Epstein, Harold Weisberg, Thomas Buchanan, and others who have played upon a naive and gullible public . . .

"Mr. Roberts obviously is infinitely better qualified to write the discernible truth about the fourth assassination of a President of the U.S. than Lane, Epstein, Weisberg, Buchanan, and William Manchester."
