

DNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1968

A List of New Books

FICTION

Blade of Light, by Don Carpenter (Harcourt, Brace & World, $4.50). The life of one adjudged criminally insane.

Gone a Hundred Miles, by Heather Ross Miller (Harcourt, Brace & World, $4.95). A country doctor and three women in his life.

Murder Among Children, by Tucker Coe (Random House, $4.50). Detective story.

Orange Wednesday, by Leslie Thomas (Delacorte Press, $5.95). International intrigue.

The Roaring Shock Test, by Eunice Luccock Corman (Harper & Row, $5.95).

Whence All but He Had Fled, by L. J. Davis (Viking, $5.75). The misadventures of a youth in search of his personality.

Hardcover Reprint

The Cut Direct: A Leonidas With-erall Mystery, by Phoebe Atwood Taylor, writing as Alice Tilton (Norton, $4.95).

History, by William A. Clebsch (Harper & Row, $5.95).

Frontiers of Collective Bargaining, edited by John T. Dunlop and Neil W. Chamberlain (Harper & Row, $8.95).

Guiding Your Child from 2 to 5, by Molly Mason Jones (Harcourt, Brace & World, $8.75).

Jack Ruby, by Garry Wills and Ovid Demaris (New American Library, $5.95).

Myself When Young, by Karl Detzer (Funk & Wagnalls, $4.95). America 60 years ago.

Parents' Guide to Summer Camps, by Charlotte M. Shapiro and Lore Jarmul (Harper & Row, $6.95).

Small Foreign Car Guide, by [unclear] met Greene (Arco, $3.50).

The Greatest Aces, by [unclear] Sims (Harper & Row, $5.95).

[unclear] of World War II, by [unclear] the P [unclear] U.S. [unclear]

General

Between Oceans, Poems by Goedicke (Harcourt, Brace & World, $4.50).

Careers and [unclear]