6 DEMOCRATS HERE CRITICAL OF C.I.A.

Representatives Draw 600 to East Side Meeting

By PAUL L. MONTGOMERY
Six Democratic Representatives attracted an audience of 600 on the East Side yesterday for a town meeting on the controversy over the Central Intelligence Agency.

The Representatives, all of whom took anti-C.I.A. positions of varying severity, were peppered with questions from the audience about the current Congressional investigations of the agency, possible links between the C.I.A. and the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, and the G.S. program in Federal funds spent annually for foreign intelligence gathering.

Representative Bella S. Abzug, who found at a hearing last week in Washington that the C.I.A. had been keeping a dossier on her, was asked if the intelligence agency ought to be abolished.

'Government into itself'

"The C.I.A. has become a government unto itself," the Manhattan Congressman replied. "They seem to consider themselves above the executive branch of government, the judicial branch, the legislative branch, and the Constitution. That is the question—whether the C.I.A. in its present form should exist at all."

Members of the audience paid $10 for reserved seats or $2 for general admission to the meeting. Warren Beatty, the actor, who is a member of the Committee for Public Justice, introduced the participants and apologized to Elizabeth Holtzman, the Brooklyn Congressman, for saying that she represented Richmond.

Questions on Assassination
Several questions from the audience concerned the assassination of President Kennedy. John D. Marks, co-author of "The C.I.A. and the Cult of Intelligence," said, "I don't think there's anybody in this room who believes that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone." He said he had a "visceral feeling" that some figures in the murder had C.I.A. connections.

The Representatives on hand—Mr. Abzug, Mrs. Holtzman, Herman Badillo, Mario Diago, Abraham S. Rosenthal, and Edward L. Koch—indicated they favored a resolution by Representative Henry Gonzalez of the Kennedy case—repealing the 1949 law that prohibits disclosure of intelligence sources and methods.
