

X sat down. Ginger-snappily . . . The Mel Belli-Mark Lane debate on the JFK assassination at Masonic turned into a shambles, mainly because the large pro-Lane audience gave Belli a bad time ("Terrifying," he said later). And Moderator Jake Ehrlich got into a battle with Jack Weinberg, who led the student uprising at Cal, which ended with Jake threatening to belt him. Peace! . . . The GIs at Fort Ord

The only mention of the debate found in any large San Francisco daily, although audience estimated to be 2,500.
