

[] filed Nixon Administration

NOTES ON PEOPLE

by Albin Krebs

Dr. Edward Teller, the physicist who played a major role in the development of the atomic and hydrogen bombs, was appointed to the Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board by President Nixon. He succeeds Treasury Secretary John B. Connally. Members of the board, all of whom are from outside Government, advise the President on the quality and effectiveness of foreign intelligence organizations.