Dallas, Jan. 7 (AP)- Joe Tonahill, a defense lawyer in the Jack Ruby murder trial, said today he has found "shocking inconsistencies" between testimony given at the trial and ~~the~~ testimony given the Warren commission.

The Jasper, Tex., attorney said he discovered numerous discrepancies after studying the 26 volumes of testimony recently released by the Warren commission, which was set up by President Johnson to provide the official investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy.

Ruby has been sentenced today for the killing of Lee Harvey Oswald, the assassin of Kennedy. The verdict is being appealed.

Tonahill said he paid particular attention on that part of the commission report that dealt with Ruby's killing of Oswald.

Tonahill and Melvin Belli of San Francisco defended Ruby when he was tried for the Oswald killing.

Tonahill said he expects to rely on what he called "new discoveries" found in the Warren report when he argues Ruby's case before the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin. Oral arguments in the appeal ~~may~~ could be in early spring, Tonahill said.

He declined to be specific about the alleged discrepancies but he said some of them were "startling."

Tonahill did say that he had referred to the testimony of some of the witnesses who were at the Dallas city hall Nov. 24, 1963, when Ruby shot Oswald during a routine jail transfer.

The official Ruby trial records were moved yesterday from the Dallas County court house to the vault of a local transfer and storage firm.

A spokesman for the moving van company said the records would be taken to the appeals court in Austin next week.

The load includes 5,500 pages of statements of ~~fact,~~ ^{fact,} a 482-page transcript and bundles of newspapers.
