Waldron is to do a Sunday piece on the House committee. His problem is to speak of fairy tales without ~~xxx~~ turning all the committee off for the future. If I see his piece and it is worth your time I'll send it. I'm continuing to encourage him to get assigned to the story. Sprague was mostly no comment to him except on Cuba, where he was explicit in total denial. Presume you know of extensive coverage, esp. on NBC, which interrupted TV shows to report. I did not see this. JL did. With Sprague having said early that if necessary he'd interview Castro don't you wonder who put this piece out to NBC? When I took a walk after 2 p.m., with lingering curiosity impelling that I carry a radio, I heard the denial from him being broadcast on the second day. HW 11/19/76
