

I have but have not read Szulc's piece in Esquire 2/74. It is only 7 pp if you want a copy. If I think you will want it when I can get to reading it I'll just make and send. I also have the Penthouse anniversary peice. Worthless. There was a NYPost story on the alleged 1965 Cuban invasion but it is merely a story on the book, which I now have but also have not read.

However, it is typical of Szulc's method. I knew without looking at it that it had a short foreword and it was exactly as in the other books, that short. "o index, no footnotes. The one difference is that he now credits his own intelligence sources, unnamed, while claiming no official help only. His word, nice copout. HW 1/17/74
