

Mailing with my old WG notes and other and very interesting enclosures came today. Skimmed only because it is a bad, busy day. Because I forget so much now, especially when oppressed by the disagreeable (of which sample enclosed), if I do not get to doing a memo on Je's 3/11 note and markings on SFChron 1/17, a cut bow and a swirling cape to the STM! I read the two marked grafs. I did not know or did not recall the "restoration." Look forward to her chrology attachments, which I'll read when i/ a freer state of mind. In connection with this, I do not recall what is in the ~~excerpts~~ excerpts I sent you from the confirmation hearings on the sainted one's successor. If I did not include his 6/19 to the head of the berlin wall, that is important and I'll send you a copy. It has been uniuersally ignored....Lil is keeping the long hours I'd indicated. But last night, in the bathroom before going to bed, she started reading the cookbook and chuckled and lamented (we can't afford some of the ingredients). She read it again after breakfast, passages to me. Many thanks. She also likes the wok I got her. But we both fear it is not 100% faithful. Is not the bottom supposed to be rounded? This one is flat bowl shaped but the bottom, about 5" diameter, is flat, I suppose because of the eletrical heating unit. No shovel. I'll get her some nylon or other soft replacement. We both look forward to her combining your gift and mine. I had gotten it for her birthday a month away but decided to give it to her yesterday. Best, HW 3/16/74
