

Lest you think I've flipped with Mark, and the ever-cursing haste may contribute to this, a lawyer has suggested to Jim that with what he knows there are some standard business laws we should invoke to end this ceaseless thievery and other damage, Jim wants to do it, Mark and his gang have been undermining us on the Hill where it prevents success, and because Mark is trying to keep his board in line when some are opposed to what he is doing (people are writing me how sick his ego is) when he is doing wrong, I've taken the initiative. My will sue me when I can countersue when cows fly over the moon. So the formulation is hasty but the idea is not new and not mine only. Best, HW 1/1/76
