

This is in case there was new attention to our weather fall ~~fall~~ ^{MAR 23 1976} comment about the predicted exceptional change in it. We were unhurt. There seem to have been a series of tornados that managed to skip us, perhaps as used to happen more often at Hyattstown, split by the mountains. There was only one nearby mountain at H' town, here a ridge of them. Seems to have been a flukey change in the last minuten the strom coming down from Canada deflected by some pressure from the south. Its worst just missed us, to the north, but in going east before turning northeast tore the hell out of Baltimore, toppling even massive maritime cranes...The McDonalds were here. While Lil was working on their taxes I tried some outside work requiring exertion for the first time. I was able to do it but, not unnatural. ly, not as much and felt it more. But I could do it, good sign. HW 3/22/76
