The Washington Merry-Go-Round

THE WASHINGTON POST

Monday, April 16, 1973 D13

Watergate Team Hit Democrats Twice

By Jack Anderson

The Watergate Mission Impossible team, which was arrested inside Party headquarters on June the others picked out certain that, in so many words, that 17, 1972, broke into the prem- material to be photographed. ises three weeks earlier during the Memorial Day week- helped set up, or one of the

This previous espionage mission has been described to a federal grand jury by James McCord, President Nixon's and two or three of the others erstwhile campaign security were generally the lookout chief, who confessed he bugged Democratic official Spencer Oliver's telephone while others photographed party documents.

was staged by eight men, erally, seemed to be support-three more than were caught ing Mr. Barker in the photoat gunpoint in the early hours graphic operation." of June 17. Asked how many actually entered the Demo- Inside Watergate cratic lair, McCord told the secret panel: "Seven Cubans stayed inside. "It seems to sistant U.S. attorney, showed and me, or I. I think that's me," he answered, "that we him an electronic device. correct."

different functions that were than that, about an hour and a this in one of the devices that performed by any of the dif-half." ferent people?" he was asked. doing? that?"

McCord, "was men helped set up, the photographic pieces of equipment to take pictures. . .

"And Mr. [Frank] Sturgis men, so to speak. Keeping an eye on the guard, if he were coming out, or anyone else that might come into the of-The Memorial Day break-in fice. The other Cubans, gen-were in a couple of hours. It

"I mean, what were they Cord testified: "As best I re- in Chicago?" Could you tell us call, the others went in first, "I can say that it looks like

"My function . . ." explained And I got a call, I think from the same size. I can't posi-

electronics, [[Howard] Hunt, as best I re-|tively identify it, because while Mr. [Bernard] Barker call, by telephone from his of. there's no serial numbers on went through various and sun- fice at the Watergate Hotel, it, but it has a very close ap-Democratic dry files, and he and some of which conveyed the message the men were inside and I should go ahead and join you placed upon Spencer Oli-

"So I came up the back stairs from the basement, which were taped, and came Hiding Evidence up to the back door, and I think Frank Sturgis let me in the back door."

The prosecutors wanted to know how the other conspirators got in the front door. "Well," said McCord, "I wasn't there, but my understanding other electronic parts that had the lock or otherwise they jimmied it."

Earlier, McCord told the grand jury he had purchased the bugging devices in Chi-He was asked how long they cago. Seymour Glanzer, an as-

"Mr. McCord . . ." said Glan-"And do you remember the may have been a little less zer, "I want to ask you, sir, if you purchased from Mr. Ste-Going into more detail, Mc- vens of the Stevens Company went through the front door. it," agreed McCord. "It's about pearance and I would guess it was the same."

"I see," said Glanzer. "And does it resemble the one that ver's phone?"

"It does," testified McCord.

After the June arrest, Mc-Cord got rid of most of the incriminating equipment. He explained to the grand jury: "Some of that equipment I had stored in a sort of wooden been purchased, and these were stored in a closet near the laundry room, in my home ... Like some people have a carpentry workshop, I have a bit of an area there where I kept some of the electronic equipment.

"So I took all of it, and, essentially, I wanted to get it out of the house, and I took that equipment and stashed it either out on a country roadthose two country roads-except for some of the things which I tossed in the Potomac

© 1973. United Feature Syndicate