APR 2 1 1975 'Bug'

By Austin Scott Washington Post Staff Writer

Penthouse Magazine said sterday that President Nixyesterday that President Nix-on's Oval Office was secretly bugged before August, 1970, by a sophisticated laser beam transmitter hidden in the wall and concealed beneath a coat of fresh paint.

In an article written for the July issue of Penthouse, for-mer foreign correspondent Tad Szulc said the device was apparently controlled by one of the (U.S.) of the (U.S.) intelligence agencies," and, unlike a tape system could identify every individual voice in the room checked with the Secret Servas well as several separate si-multaneous conversations.

cret Service spokesman, said not aware of any such device. when asked for comment that the Secret Service knows of no such bugging and does not be thorne said.

lieve such a device was ever installed.

mitter was removed in August, 1970, and that one or more senior officials of the Secret foreign-born painter employed Service and the Central Intelligence Agency knew of its existence.

whether the Secret Service and the CIA officials knew about it before it was re-moved, and whether Nixon ever knew about it are unknown.

Hawthorne said he ice officials responsible for the Oval Office at the time in William Hawthorne, a Se-question, and that they were Szulc said the laser beam istalled.

The article said the trans-code name "Easy Chair."

by the government, Szulc wrote. He said he knows the name of istence.

Szulc said the purpose of the transmitter, the identity of those who ordered it installed, whether the Secret Service. in this operation."

know about "Easy Chair." /

up all telephone conversa-tions, including those made over "secure" scrambler lines, between Nixon and his aides, friends and visitors.

ffice Peported

Szulc said only about a dozen could broadcast the pickups past and present officials of was not clear, Szulc said, but the intelligence community he said experts believe it probably had a transmission range He said the laser bug picked of about a half-mile, so that the conversations could have been received anywhere in the White House, the adjoining Excutive Office Building, the as well as every conversation Treasury Building a block between Nixon and his aides, away, or even the Commerce Department three block away. How far the transmitter Department three blocks away.