

favored cutting foreign aid, local control of schools, free enterprise, a "liberated" farm program, local medical care, right to work laws and the oil depletion allowance, a long-time Texas favorite. One ad: "If you want a socialist Government - Don't Vote for Dobbs." Thornberry won handily.

Manager and apparently No. 4 man at Life Line is Norman Larsen, former student at Northwestern University. He was present at the Washington, D. C. meeting, 3/22/62, called by Billy James Hargis which resulted in the formation of the Anti-Communist Liaison as a coordinating committee for right-wing activity.
