

more prosperous society-for black and white, young and old, rich and poor and middle-class. done so much to make America a more just and trouble. For the Democrats have provided, over the last 40 years, that great engine for reform which has the Democratic Party is in trouble - America is in The Democratic Party is in trouble. And when have just started a new organization called The our share in re-forming the Democratic Party. We business and the professions - have decided to do world, from the academic community, from labor, Believing this, a group of us - from the political Coalition for a Democratic Majority.

for the future. details both our bill of grievances and our hopes that appears on this page. That statement clearly ber who have already sponsored the call to action liberals have been barely audible in the blare of the New Politics. For too long now the voices of common-sense order to bring progress to America-join with us. Party must find its way again, and win elections, in

We have listed below some 70-odd of our num-

If you believe as we do-that the Democratic arises. We want the American people to know that there is another, more responsible tradition of pared to battle for those beliefs whenever the need do. We want a strong organization continually pregroup that can help candidates who believe as we change the climate of opinion. We want an action progress in America. Now we want a robust voice. We want to help wait. believe as we do, join with us today. America can't To do that requires members and money. If you he 1972 Presidential election has provided the Democratic Party with a stern lesson—and we believe with an historic opportunity as electorate has turned its back on our party's candidate for the Presidency. Nevertheless, we do not view the results of this election as the expression of some sweepit in our hearts to applaud the fact that the American As Democrats we naturally cannot find

We see the 1972 election, rather, as a clear signal to the Democratic Party to return to the great tradition through which it had come to represent the wishes and hopes of a majority of the American people—the tradition of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, Adlai Stevenson; John F. Kennedy, Lyndon B. Johnson and Hubert H. Humphrey.

過過過 事一行人

forty years, the American people repeatedly endorsed these Democratic concepts of progress, which were keyed to six driving ideas:

An ever expanding opportunity for individuals without regard to race, class, sex, or ethnic origin; an ever fairer distribution of the fruits of the intention to build a better nation and a better world along the lines of certain principles. And in electing pemocratic Presidents for twenty-eight of the last In nominating these men for the Presidency, the Democratic Party repeatedly proclaimed its earnest country's vast wealth and productivity;

A sustained effort, through compensatory action, to give those who have by birth and background as equals in American life;

A sober but spirited assumption of America's share of responsibility for the establishment of a more been disadvantaged a full opportunity to compete

A knowledge that without democratic order there no democratic order; can be no justice and without justice there can be secure international community; because American voters are wisely and prudently aware of their own self interest. A belief that democracy works and that it works

9

In the turbulence and confusion of the past few years, the national Democratic Party has come to be unduly influenced by forces and ideas unrepresentative of traditional Democratic principles.

The belief that the security of the United States depends upon a stable and progressive world community has been challenged by the idea that the responsibilities and effect a serious diminution of United States must withdraw from its international its own power.

The belief that America is a great nation seeking to correct major inequities has been challenged by the idea that American society is sick and guilty, morally bankrupt and inherently corrupt.

The idea that social progress is best served by a balancing of the conflicting rights, needs, and demands of many different kinds of people has been challenged by the claim of one small group that it knows what is best for others.

The principle of individual merit without regard to

The "New Politics" Has Failed inherited status has been challenged by the idea of proportionalism in accordance with birth and group origin.

[The belief that order is essential to justice has been diluted by a cavalier attitude toward the tens of millions of Americans who are genuinely and correctly concerned about public safety and respect for law.

In the service of such new forces and ideas a "New Politics" has developed—a politics new in its contempt for the very people and institutions on which the Democratic Party has built its electoral strength. It is a "New Politics" that has derided the organized labor movement, driving it from its traditional place in the vanguard of the Democratic coalition. It is a "New Politics" that has sneered at the greatness of America. It is a "New Politics" that has dismissed as morally unworthy the long-range values and daily concerns of tens of millions of ordinary people. And finally, and tragically, it is a "New Politics" that has allowed the Republican Party – a party so long and so accurately known as the party of privilege – to represent itself for the first time as the champion of such values and concerns.

which has acquiesced in a cynical undermining of the essential decency of the American political process. deeply concerned with responsible action abroad in the interest of world peace and security. And it is the Republican Party—as has recently been revealed— Party—not the Republican—which has always been the natural home of people concerned with the expansion of individual opportunity in America, it is the Demopression and association. It is the Democratic Party—not the Republican—which has always been the most cratic Party—not the Republican—which has always been deeply concerned with the basic freedoms of ex-The fact is, however, that it is the Democratic

Change surveys or neggeneral

Real Progress Still Can Be Achieved

Now the voters have spoken. In the weeks and months ahead many interpretations will be offered as to what they have said. There will be talk of a "realignment" of political forces, of a large-scale shift in political sentiment. It will be argued that the American people have been "moving to the right". Or the defeat will be attributed to the ineptitude of the candidate rather than to a rejection of the ideas and forces he was thought to represent.

We do not believe that these alibis are valid. We believe that in repudiating the Democratic/"New Politics" presidential candidacty in this election while Politics" presidential candidacty in this election while re-electing a Democratic Congress, the voters were speaking with precision and sophistication. What they said was that American society should continue on in that very Democratic tradition which, abandoned by the forces temporarily in control of the national Democratic Party in 1972, was usurped in some measure by the Republicans.

discrimination against others;

To all who believe in a pluralistic political process in which no single group or class enjoys a special

Accordingly, we founding sponsors of The Coalition for a Democratic Majority issue this call:

To all who believe this society must end all forms of discrimination against some without recourse to moral status;

To all who believe that, regardless of past miscalculations or failures of policy, United States involvement in international affairs continues to volvement in international affairs continues to international order; necessary to the establishment of a stable and viable

☐ To all who believe that while our society must be vastly improved, it has not failed—Join with us in The Coalition for a Democratic Majority, a new organization dedicated to returning for the majority of the American people, as the party of progress, freedom, and security for all. the Democratic Party to its rightful role as spokesman

he Coalition for a Democratic Majority rrotessor, University of Wisconsin Arnold BelChman author, Nine Lies About America Daniel Bell, Professor 11. Professor, Haritard University; editor, The Public Indirect Pearl K, Bell literary crific, The New Leader

Reinhart Bendix
Professor, University of California at Berfeley
Joseph Bishop
Professor, Valvescrift of California
Richard W, Boilling
Member of Congress, Missouri
Prefelent Indirect Bornard
Prefelent Bonnario attorap; former Legislative Ounsel to Search Humbridge Limphiney

John P. Roche, Humbridge Limphiney

Perion P. Branches University; columnist; urmers Special Search Limphines Limphines Limphines (Search B. Johnson B. Jo attorney, Vice-President, Board of Education
Thomas S. Foley
Congress, Washington Stephen K. Bailey
Professor, Syracuse University
Jack Barbash Director, A. Philip no...

Midge Decter

Midge Section, World Magazine; author, SPONSORS (Partial List) George Backer political consultant; former Administrative Assistant to Senator Birch Bayh Jeane Kirkpatrick Ben J. Wattenberg co-author, The Real Majority, former aide to Senator Henry M. Jackson
Bayard Ruslin The New Chastity
Richard Schifter etown University ident, Maryland State

Professor, American University
Valerie Earle
Professor, Georgetown University
James T. Farrell of America, AFL-CIO

Chester Earle

Professor President, Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks, AFL-CIO S. Harrison Dogole business executive, Philadelphia William DuChessi town University

Norman Podhoretz

David Fellman
Protessor, University of Wisconsin, former President, American Association of University Protessors
John P. Frank Michael J. Halberstam, M.D. Professor, Harvard University
Harold P. Green
Professor, George Washington University Nathan Glazer

Patricia Roberts Harris
attorney; former Arribassador to Luxemburg; Chairman, Gedentials Committee, 1972 Democratic National Convention
Norman Hill ctor, A. Philip Randolph Institute Brotherhood of Steeping Car Porters

Austin Ranney

Professor, University of Wisconsin; member, McGovern-Fraser Commission on Party Structure and Delegate Selection

Richard Ravitch

Professor, University of California Law School Leon H. Keyserling
termer Chairman, Council of Economic Advisors; President, Conference on Economic Progress
Mary Dublin Keyserling of Labor, economics
of Labor, economics
Invin Kovens Vice-President, American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO., Chairman, Paraprolessionals Chapter, United Federation of Teachers, N.Y.C. Sanford Kadish Velma Hill versity of California Law School tormer Member of Congre to the United Nations s, Peter Rosenblatt attorney; former Special (Senator Edimund S. Muski Sement remindro S. Mussile

Eugene V. Rostow

Polessor, Yale Law School

Elizabeth Scull

Member, County Council, Montgomeny County, Maryland James Roosevelt

Fred Morgan Professor, University of California at Berkeley Harry C. McPherson Jr.
author, attorney, former Special Counsel to President Lyndon B. Johnson Seymour Martin Lipset Professor, Harvard University Martin Malia Paul Kurtz State University of New York;

Walter P. Burke

President, United Rubber Workers, AFL-CIO
Zbigniew Brzezinski
Protessor, Columbia University

William Connell

tary-Treasurer, United Steelworkers erica, AFL-CIO to Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey

Chester Cooper H. Humphrey
Chester Cooper H. Humphrey
Chester Cooper H. Humphrey
Corner State Dept. drilosi; author,
The Local Chusade: America in Visham
John E. Cosgrove
Director, Division for Urban Atfalfs, U.S. Catholic Conference

William Stern
Administrative Director, The Workmen's Circle

Editor, Hudson Review
Charles S. Murphy
Altorney, Washington D.C.; former Specia to President Heavis. S. Truman Philleo Nash Protessor, American University; former Commissioner of Indian Affaits utive, Baltimore ; former Special Counsel Richard L. Simpson Professor, University of North Carolina
Alan Sindler
Professor Indian James V. Stanton Walter H. Shorenstein business executive, San Francisco Albert Shanker

President 11-2 Arnold Solloway Philip Siegelman Professor, San Francisco Paul Seabury Carleton Sickles ident, United Federation of Teachers, N.Y.C. President, American Federation of Teachers CIO ursity of California at Berkeley ongress

Box 28181, Central Station, Washington, D.C. 20005 Penn Kemble, Executive Director James Automisticis et al.

Senero Automisticis et al.

Senero Automisticis et al.

Michael Novak

Member of Congress, Michigan; former Chairman, Democratic Study Group;
Chairman, Commission on Rues,
Chairman, Camoratic Study Group;
Chairman, Camoratic Study Group;
Chairman, Verband Commenton

Claire Penniman

Professor, University of Wilsonsin

Richard Pipes

Professor, University University

Professor, Infrard University Bernard Norwich

Attiliations listed for identification only.

ORGANIZING COMMITTEE

Paul Warren Martin A. Trow Professor, University of California at Berkeley Adam Ulam Executive Director, College Young Democrats Harvard University

Robert C. Weaver former Secretary of Housing and Urban Development
Eugene L. Wyman
attorney, Los Angelas Louis Stulberg, Pres., I.L.G.W.U

(The Coalition for a Democratic Majority is a dues-paying, membership organization chartered in Washington, D.C. It will be active in political formulation and political organization aimed at revitalizing the Democratic Party, and in general encouraging and contributing to all those forces working toward the re-formation of a Democratic majority in America.)

Walter H. Shoren business executive, San Carleton Sickles former Member of Cong Philip Siegelman Professor, San Francisc Richard L. Simps	Walter H	Protessor, University Protessor, University Albert Shanker President, United Fee Vice President, Amer	Professor, y Professor, y Elizabeth Member, Co	James Roosevell James Roosevell former Member of Cong to the United Nations res, Peter Rosenblatt attorney; former Specia Senator Edmund S. Must	Austin Ranney Professor, University of McGovern-Fraser Com Structure and Delegate Richard Ravitch	President, Brotherhood Allied Trades, AFL-CIO A. Philip Randol Vice-President, AFL-Ci Brotherhood of Sleepin	Nelson Polsby Professor, University of Laurence Radw: Professor, Dartmouth of S. Frank Raffery	Norman Podh
Professor, University of North Carolina Alan Sindler Professor, University of California at Berkeley	Carleton Sickles former Member of Congress Philip Siegelman Professor, San Francisco State College Richard L. Simpson	Paul seabury Prolesso, University of California at Berkeley Alibert Shanker President, Unider Gederation of Teachers, M.Y.C.; Vice President, American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO Walter H. Shorenstein business executive, San Francisco	Eugene V. Rostow Professor, Yale Law School Elizabeth Scull Member, County Council, Montgomery County, Marylend	business executive, New York James Roosevelt James Roosevelt torner Member of Congress and Ambassador to the Unied Nelions Peter Rosenblatt adtorner, former Special Consultant to Senator Edmund S. Musskle	Austin Ranney Professor, University of Wisconsin; member, Professor, University of Wisconsin; member, McGovern-Fraser Commission on Party Structure and Delegate Selection Richard Ravitch	President, Brotherhood of Painters and Milled Trades, AFL-CIO A. Philip Randolph Vice-President, AFL-CIO; President Emeritus, Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Portars	Nelson Polisby Nelson Polisby Professor, University of California at Berkeley Laurence Radway Professor, Darlmouth College S. Frank Raftery	Norman Podhoretz Editor Commentary
Name	☐ I do not wish to formally enroll in CDM — but enclosed is a contribution to further your program.	□ I agree with the purposes of The Coalition for A Democratic Majority. Enclosed is my contribution. Please enter my-name as a charter member. □ \$15 (regular) □ \$25 (contributing) □ \$50 (sustaining) □ \$100 (founding) □ \$500 and up (patron)	SIGN ME UP FOR THE HOM. 2-COMING The Coalition for a Democratic Majority Box 28181, Central Station, Washington, D.C. 20005	is it Time to Put the $\prod_{i \in \mathbb{R}^{n}} \mathbb{R}^n$ Party Back Together? $\prod_{i \in \mathbb{R}^n} \mathbb{R}^n$	Come Come	seeks to restur lands		majority in America,
	DM - but enclosed is a con-	Coalition for A Democratic Please enter my name as a uting) $50 (sustaining) up (patron)	HON. :- COMING	PATY COALITION PATY COALITION GETS HUMBHREY JACKSON SUPPORT	on Anti-New Politics Library Call to Democrats: Come Home/ ©k@being@lat	The Washington 30st Routhard Frank and Robert Novak	Netrovitosa minus rimove. Teroviv volumin (1, 102) Centrist Democrats Forming To Col Wed	