Watergate May Remain A Mystery

By Sanford J. Ungar Washington Post Staff Writer

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C., Sep. 23-The American public maynever learn the motivation of the men charged with bugging Democratic headquarters at the Watergate, Assistant Attorney General Henry E. Petersen has told federal prosecutors at a national conference here.

Petersen, the chief of the Justice Department's criminal division who directed the federal investigation of the Watergate affair, insisted that the three-month probe has not revealed the true reasons for the incident or the identity of persons who may have been behind it.

His remarks came in response to questions raised by U.S. attorneys from around the country during seminars at this Atlantic Coast resort.

Petersen frankly told his questioners that he expects

See WATERGATE, A14, Col. 1

WATERGATE, From A1

"the jail doors will close" behind the seven men now charged with the break-in before they ever reveal further details of the affair.

The public and press, and even some Justice Department billed as gripe sessions and briefings for the regional federal law enforcement officials. But Petersen today confirmed his comments about the Watergate.

They contrasted with the earlier public statments of other Nixon administration officials, who have said either that the indictment returned 10 days ago in Washington re- talking with their supervisors that only through jail senvealed the full Watergate story from Washington and with re- tences could the federal govor that further significant de-

Department lawyer who now issue in their home states. holds a political appointment as assistant attorney general, "Back home, most people exreiterated today his confidence pect both parties to do this that the FBI and grand jury spying on each other. The investigations of the Water- only thing that interests them gate incident had been thor- is why these people were stuough and left no stones un- pid enough to get caught." turned.

Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst, he said that criti- Air Force jet that brought cism of the Watergate investi- them here Thursday for the gation by Democratic presi- first such annual conference dential nominee George Mc- of U.S. attorneys to be held Govern and others is politi-outside Washington. cially motivated.

the indictment in the case vate sessions with regional might just as well have begn prosecutors handling sensitive returned earlier, because the cases or complaining of a lack last six weeks of the investiga- of support in their work from tion had provided nothing other government agencies. new. Among seven men named In the meantime, the U.S. in the indictment are two for- attorneys were briefed on the new. Among seven men named mer White House aides- E. latest Justice Department Howard Hunt Jr. and G. Gor- wiretap disclosure policies, don Liddy-who subsequently ambitious new plans for comworked for the Committee for bating drug abuse, and law-former security chief for the President's re-election commit- the U.S. attorneys were: tee.

the probe, Petersen said, the thorities across the country, to government found itself fol- combat airplane hijacking lowing false leads.

employees, were barred from licly or privately, during the mercial airliner is scheduled two-day annual conference of to take off. U.S. attorneys, all but a few of tr forad6 them political appointees with impeccable Republcian cre-federal judges to send income dentials.

> seminars, it was usually in a collar crimes to jail at least joking way or in the form of for a short period of time. techncial questions by the federal prosecutors about the in-Scott P. Crampton, chief of vestigation.

or that further significant de-porters, confirmed the wide-tails would come out during the trial. Peterson, a career Justice caught on as an election-year

As one southerner put it.

Kleindienst and most of his Echoing the statements of deputies and staff returned to Washington today in the same

The Attorney General spent He conceded, however, that much of his time here in prithe Re-election of the Presi-suits against violators of the dent-and James W. McCord, federal wage-and-price treeze.

Among the policies urged on

 An intensive effort, with During the final stages of the cooperation of local auwith the presence of "someone The Watergate controversy in uniform" at all 531 domes-was hardly mentioned, pub- tic airports whenever a com--

• A new push to persuade tax evaders and other persons When it did come up in the convicted of so-called white-

Assistant Attorney General the Justice Department's tax Many of the U.S. attorneys, division, told the prosecutors