

8/7/73

W. 68

Cox's Salary Set
At $38,000 a Year

Associated Press

President Nixon issued an executive order yesterday setting the salary of Special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox at $38,000 a year.

His action came in a document which also set the same salary level for an associate attorney general and a commissioner general of an environmental exposition scheduled for Spokane, Wash.

The order did not mention Cox by name, but rather referred to him as "special prosecutor, the Department of Justice."