^Hunt for fifth run tussay

TUE JUN 2 0 1972

*:--

the man whose name turned up in Howard |Everette |Hunt-Jre, is nexpected sides in this was been been the adress books of two men arrested at the Democratic Mational Committee nanksáríserréherz

Howard Everette Funt Jr ., the guther of 42 novels under various pseudonyms, may be involved in one of the best plots his

Howard Everette Hunt, Jr., the 53-year old author of 42 nevels under various pseudonyms, intelligence agent and sometimes

White House aide, was among the missing today,

Yesterday the Lasta Lastanizht investigators found Hunt's new in the address books of two men arrested at the Democratic National Committee early Saturday merning. Along with & Hunt's name was the notation "White House".

present Today his pesent employer, a Mashington public relations firm that has specialized in work for Republicans, announced that Hunt would be suspended tomorrow morning unless he has shown up.

Robert F. ennett, the son of Utah Republican Sen. Wallace F. 전화에서는 옷이 없는 것이 있는 것이 없는 것이 없다. Bennett and president of the firm, Robert R. Mullen and Co., said he had

But since he has not been in touch with bennett, who says fin the says is being besieged with calls about Hunt's involvement/in the atergate caper Saturday.

"Mayba I'm being paranoid," ennett said, "but I felt I had to acte"

Bennett said it was "entirely possible," as rumored, that Noward Hunt get his jeb through the endorsement of a former employer named Richard Helms, director of the Central Intelligence Agency. "I think I'm right in recalling that Mr. Helms and Mr. Mullen know each other, and Mr. Mullen was looking for a whiter about that time," meaning last year when Hunt retired from the CIA.

"Mr. Hunt has a long background of writing ability," ennett said. "That's what hedid for the CIA."

Bennett said that he was not at the fim when Hunt was hired, but he fished a job resume out of the files which he said matched an entry in "Whe's Whe" showing Hunt with a long and remarkable background, including prolific author, screen writer, war correspondent, and various billets with the State Department and the Defense Department. "Obviously these were his cover

Hunt, who lives at 11120 River Boad in Potomac, Maryland, is listed in Whe's Who as having written 42 novels under the pseudonyms Robert Dietrich, John Baxter and Gordon Davis, as well as article EM foreign affairs and political journals.

1. 1.

Harris

In 1942 and 1943 he was a script writer for Time, Inc.'s newsreel film series "The March of Time" and then he became a war corresponden for Life magazine.

After the war he returned to screen writing for a few years, and then showed up as attache in the American $E_{\rm m}$ bassy in faris in 1948.

From there he went to a series of State Department billets in Vienna, Mexice City, Mentividee, the far east and Mashington.

From 1960 to 1965, he is listed as a "consultant to the Department of gefense" and from 1968 to 1971 as "with the Department of State".

A 1962 book review in the Star of "A Gift for Gemala" by John Baxter says therewise that is the pen name of a fomer former Foreign Service employe and current "ashington resident,

The review says the book includes "a very believable lobbyist

Hunt's activities for the White Bouse are not listed in his biography, but the "hite "ouse confirmed that he had been hired at fees of about $100 a day for exceptions several weeks in 1971 and 1972 to work on the declassification of government documents, emong other work .

He was employed by White Heuse aide Chuck Colson, who has refused any comment on Hunt or other elements of the case.

1:21

- 2

12.

in the 1 14.

end

1

State States 14