

According to Hunt's testimony to the first Washington grand jury, leaked to Jack Anderson (~~4/18/73~~), the Secret Service secured his White House office with a special lock. His safe, cracked after his arrest, also held an emergency fund of Liddy's, $8,500 in cash. Hunt turned the money over the Caddy, who in the pinch was the crew's first lawyer. (For the little this required of him, that seems like a stiff fee. But for the sweat into which it led him, it was an insignificant return. Caddy had a strenuous time before the grand jury.)