Panel Is Told White House Urged I.R.S. Political Acts

1. 6.8/23 By EILEEN SHANAHAN

Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, June 27 - who served until this spring. Members of the Nixon White However, at least one such House staff made repeated at-politically motivated audit was tempts to get the Internal successfully suggested to the Revenue Sevice to conduct Internal Revenue Service, ac-"political actions and investiga- cording to testimony that the tions" but were often balked investigators heard eysterday by the President's own ap- This was an audit of Robert pointees to head the agency, according to a document sub- Continued on Page 37, Column 1 mitted today to Senate investigators.

The document, an internal memorandum written partly Memos on Internal Revenue Service are on Page 37.

by John W. Dean 3d and partly by John Caulfield, complained that the first two I.R.S. commisioners appointed by President Nixon had been "afraid and unwilling to do anything with I.R.S. that could be politically helpful."

For example, the memo stated, "we have been unable to obtain information in the possession of I.R.S. regarding our political enemies" and "we have been unable to stimulate audits of persons who should be audited."

The two commisioners named were Randolph W. Thrower, who served during the first two years of the Nixon Administration, and Johnnie M. Walters.

But Nixon's Appointees Are Said to Have Balked friend, Charles G. Rebozo.

The request for that audit affiliation." was made by Mr. Caulfield, a former employe of the Commit-President and one-time New Bacon, a former assistant com-York City police detective, ac-missioner of I.R.S. in charge of cording to Mr. Dean's account. It was not clear when the audit request was made, beause the memo was undated.

The memorandum proposed that H. R. Haldeman, former chief of the White House staff, -ury to put pressure on Commis-sioner Walters to undertake "discreet political action and investigations." A former Internal Revenue Whether the C tell the Secretary of the Treas-

Whether the Secretary of the Treasury was John B. Connally or the incumbent, George P. Shultz, also was unclear.

Unresponsive to Requests It had long been reported by members of the tax bar and otehrs familiar with internal revenue that both Mr. Thrower and Mr. Walters had been asked to resign because they had been unrespnsive to White House requests.

Mr. Walters declined to discuss any of the disclosures on the ground that it could violate the "orderly procedures" of the Senate investigation. Mr. Thrower was vacationing Mexico and could not be reached.

Alexander, issued the following ings into the aWtergate scandal statement through a spokes- as the man who allegedly carman when asked what commit- ried an offer of executive clemments he had made to the ency to James W. McCord Jr., White House before being ap-one of the convicted Watergate pointed to his job:

"I have read the news reports of Mr. Dean's testimony ing certain audits that the concerning statements that In- White House suggested, Comternal Revenue Service was De- missioners Thrower and Walmocratically oriented and that ters also failed to after the elections people through on proposals that it should be placed in this agency "crack down on the multitude who would be responsive to of tax-exempt foundations that White House requirements.

Continued From Page 1, Col. 7 statements then, in appointing Greene of Newsday, the Long me, they have appointed the Island newspaper. Mr. Greene wrong man. I intend to adheaded a team of reporteds who minister the Federal tax laws investigated President Nixon's even-handedly and fairly and without any regard to political

Obstacle Inedtified

The memorandum submitted tee for the Re-election of the by Mr. Dean identified Donald compliance, as one of the ob-stacles to politically motivated audits.

"It is known that Bacon is a liberal Democrat holdover who has been continually identified with anti-Nixon intrigues official said he was not sur-prised that Mr. Caulfield complained about Mr. Bacon.

He said Mr. Bacon had re-fused to hire Mr. Caulfield as head of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms on the ground that Mr. Caulfield was unqualified because he had no previous management experience.

The bureau was subsequently transferred out of the Internal Revenue Service and into another part of the Treasury Department, and Mr. Caulfield given a job there.

Linked to McCord

Besides being named yesterin day as the man who ordered the audit on Mr. Greene, the Newsday reporter, Mr. Caulfield The present Commissioner of has been mentioned in the hearone of the convicted Watergate burglars.

In addition to resisting makfollow feed left-wing political causes,' "If there is anything to those according to the memo.