New Quizzing of Ford On Pardon Is Rejected

By John P. MacKenzie Washington Post Staff Writer

A House Judiciary subcommittee decided yesterday not to seek any more answers from President Ford about his pardon of former President

But the subcommittee tentatively set further hearings into the use of the pardoning power, the Ford-Nixon tapes agreement and the powers of the Watergate special prosecutor. These could produce more evidence on the pardon.

Chairman William L. Hungate (D-Mo.) directed the subcommittee staff to arrange for the testimony of Leon Jaworski, the former special prosecutor, by mid-December, and to explore the availability of former White House chief of Calif.) and Robert W. Kasten- nation Oct. 17. staff Alexander M. Haig Jr. to testify.

pursue no further resolutions harassment of Mr. Ford.

of inquiry filed by Reps. Bella | Hungate and Rep. James R. questions about the pardon.

the resolutions by making his the pardon from Jaworski, unprecedented appearance as Haig and perhaps other wita witness Oct. 17, but the reso-nesses. lutions' supporters said his testimony was incomplete and failed to provide all the ancontradictory and raised fresh questions.

members of the subcommittee testified. "Our failure fully to voted to reject the resolutions. develop the evidence is just Reps. Henry P. Smith (N. Y.) not a sufficient reason to pass and David W. Dennis (Ind.), these resolutions," Mann said. joined by Reps. Wiley Mayne Rep. Holtzman gave Hun-(Iowa) and Lawrence J. Hogan (Md.), said the President's tes-said were unansered-five timony should satisfy any. body.

meier (D-Wis.) said the resolutions should be pressed fur-ask the full Judiciary Commit-By a 6-to-3 vote the Criminal ther. They denied that continitee to overrule the subcommit-Justice Subcommittee voted to ued inquiry would amount to tee and keep the resolutions

Abzug (D-N.Y.) and John Mann (D-S.C.) cast their decid-Conyers Jr. (D-Mich.) posing ing votes with the Republicans, but they said they ex-President Ford responded to pected more information on

Mann said if the President swers, the fault "lies in the laps of those of us here" who Four lane-duck Republican failed to get them when he

Rep. Holtzman gave Hungate a list of 30 questions she from the resolutions, 17 raised by Mr. Ford's testimony and Reps. Elizabeth Holtzman the eight she fired at him dur-(D-N.Y.), Don Edwards (D-ing her five minutes of exami-

> Rep. Abzug said she would of inquiry alive.