Graham on Transcripts: rofoundly Disturbing

NEW YORK, May 28 today he could "not but deplore the moral tone implied" in the transcripts of President does not make it right." Nixon's conversations concerning Watergate.

pointing experience."

"What comes through in less than hypocrisy to call for dent Gerald R. Ford. these tapes is not the man I have known for many years," he said. "Other mutual friends have made the same observation?

He said the conversations indicate that "a nation confused for years by the teaching of situational ethics now finds itself dismayed by those in government who apparently practiced it. We have lost our moral compass. We must get it back."

However, he said Mr. Nixor remains "my friend, and] have no intention of forsaking him now.

"Nor will I judge him as a man in totality on the basis o these relatively few hours o conversation under such se vere pressure. But I would b neither his friend nor God' servant if I did not point ou what the righteousness of Goo demands at such a time as this."

Graham earlier this month had been involved in a cru sade in Phoenix, and had de clined comment on the tran scripts until he had had time to read them. He said today he has spent several days doing so, and was deeply disturbed by them.

"Our repudiation of wrongdoing and our condemnation of evil, however, must be tempered by compassion for the wrong-doers," he said.

Many a stone is being cast by persons whose own lives could not bear like scrutiny. Therefore, we dare not be selfrighteous," he said.

He said that "one cannot a moral housecleaning at the but deplore the moral tone im- White House unless we are Evangelist Billy Graham said plied in these papers, and willing to do the same at your though we know that other house and my house." Presidents have used equally As for the White House, he cated confused "situational course." Graham, a long-time friend ethics" in the White House of the President, said in a a view that principles should ment from his home in Monage he added, "it would be nothing Wednesday with Vice Presi-

language, it said the issues now are in the hands of judicial processes Saying the material indi- and "the law will take its statement that reading the be modified to suit the situa- treat, N.C., shortly before leavmaterial had been "a pro- tion — Graham urged renewal ing for Charlotte, N.C., where of a firm moral standard. But, he is scheduled to play golf 12.