LIMA, Peru, March 3 (AP)- Chief Justice Earl Warren, who headed the investigation of President John F. Kennedy's assassination, said tonight he has heard of no new facts arising from the New Orleans "conspiracy" probe and sees no need for further investigation.

Referring to the campaign being carried on by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison in New Orleans, Warren told newsmen here:

"I have no other to say on Mr. Garrison's investigation. I don't know him. I have heard nothing that has developed any new facts.

"As far as I know," Warren said, "he has declined to give information on the facts he may have."

The official commission headed by Warren concluded there was no credible evidence to indicate that anyone but Lee Harvey Oswald was involved in killing the President Nov. 22, 1963. Garrison has subpoenaed four persons in connection with what he has described as an assassination conspiracy.

The U.S. chief justice, on a tour of four South American capitals, said that he saw no need to reopen the government's investigation of the assassination.

"I have exactly the same confidence in the (Warren Commission) Report now as when I signed it," he said. "I don't have any information which would lead me to the conclusion that the investigation should be reopened.

"If there are new facts on the assassination then they should be developed, and if anyone has violated the law, the law should take its due course," Warren said.

"But I have not heard anything which would change the report in any way, shape or form."

Warren flew to Bolivia last week as an official guest of the La Paz government. He is visiting Peru, Ecuador, and Colombia en route home to Washington.
